Natural Disaster-Related Repair – Fee Relief

Milford homeowners and businesses will not be charged the city's portion of permit fees for repair and reconstruction of damage caused by a declared natural disaster. Please note that the State of Connecticut also charges fees and that these are not waived.

In order to calculate the correct fees for this project, please provide the following information:

1. Total value of the work to be done (include materials and labor). If labor is to be done by homeowner, estimate the equivalent costs based on the number of hours and hourly rate for a contractor doing this work.

2. Portion of the work directly attributable to damage caused by the natural disaster:

   - ☐ 100 % of this work is directly attributable to damage caused by the natural disaster
   - ☐ A portion of this work is directly attributable to damage caused by Storm Sandy:
     - % storm related: _____
     - % additional work: _____

3. If the cost of work is over $50,000, please prove the appraised value of the structure at the time of the natural disaster (available from Assessor's office).

   $_____
