Press Release

City of Milford to Host the Connecticut Office of Tourism on Listening Tour

Milford, CT, November 2, 2016: The City of Milford will host the Connecticut Office of Tourism on their Listening Tour, November 17 at 2 PM at City Hall, 110 River Street.

“The City is thrilled the Office of Tourism has chosen Milford as a stop on their Listening Tour. With 17 miles of shoreline, a booming business economy, hotels and events galore it is important our voice is heard as we move forward, said Mayor Ben Blake.”

The Office of Tourism is embarking on this tour to increase its regional outreach. Regional tourism marketing outreach continues to play a key role in maintaining close communications with state tourism and cultural partners, including tourism's destination leaders. This tour will assist the Office of Tourism in its efforts to meet with constituents, organizations, Chambers of Commerce, associations and independent business owners to strengthen, leverage and support the industry's promotional efforts. The Office will be convening Listening Tours throughout the state beginning the week of November 14 through December. Everyone is encouraged to attend and participate, and we appreciate your feedback and ideas on building new partnerships to grow tourism all across Connecticut. To RSVP or for more information, please contact Jennifer Haag at Jennifer.haag@ct.gov.

Please reach out to Julie Nash, Director of Economic and Community Development through email at jnash@ci.milford.ct.us or by phone at 203-783-3230 with any questions.
