f. Informational: School Security Update

Chief Mello indicated that he wanted to keep the Commission updated on the school security measures that were being worked on and implemented. Currently we have 3 Officers working on the School Security committee. Our Crime Prevention has completed 43 security events in the last month.

The discussion touched on lock down drills at schools, locks, electronic access and key fobs, meetings with Principals and the Board of Education. We will be continuing into the summer months with teacher training, structural training and changes in the schools and inspections with CIRMA.

The Chief then discussed the SRO program. He passed out informational sheets outlining SRO programs and the costs to implement different numbers of SRO's. Chief Mello recommends that 4 SRO Officers can be effective. 2 would be assigned to each high school, 1 would rotate between the Middle Schools, and 1 would rotate between the Elementary Schools. In the summertime the SRO Officers could be utilized downtown and on the COPPS unit.

The costs could be offset by the increase in revenue from redirecting some of the revenue generated by the Police Department ($135,000). Also approximately $30,000 from additional 2.5% surcharge fee on private duty construction. Chief Mello discussed the smart bus program (video cameras on buses) that could possibly bring in about $50,000 in extra revenue. When the camera records the infraction of a car passing a school bus, part of the fine would come back to our Department.

SRO Officers would be seasoned Officers. We are testing now for new Police Officers and should be done by May with this testing. If we are to hire new Officers for an SRO program we will need to get these Officers into the academy by August so that possibly by January 2014 we can have SRO's in the schools. Otherwise we won't have them in place until January 2015.

Commissioner Bergami mentioned the wait on pistol permits. He recently only waited 18 minutes in Florida. Deputy Chief Butler indicated that we do 12-15 on Tuesdays and Thursdays and that we turn away 15 or so people each day. There was a general discussion on the costs and waiting. Chief Mello indicated that there is a bill being created in CT regarding mental health evaluations for pistol permit applicants. Currently there are no mental health evaluations. Chief Mello indicated that 51% of all pistol permit denials are overturned by the review board. He said "something is either wrong with us or the Board".

Commissioner Wanosky asked if there was a Plan B on funding for SRO's. When the initial funding dries up, what do we do?

Chief Mello indicated that is why many of the former SRO programs were reduced. Initially they were funded and when that funding dried up, they were cut back. Chief Mello said that police departments play "probabilities" – that we know what happens in schools. SRO's can help in the unlikely possibility of a catastrophic event. In addition to probabilities, we focus on fear of crime. Fear of crime is almost as devastating as crime itself. We need to make children and teachers feel safe. The funding for the SRO's should become a "line item" as long as we want it. SRO funding is not just a one time cost, it needs to be a line item.

Chief Mello indicated that the public is assuming the SRO cost was part of the budget amendment which is not true. He indicated that these are tough budget times and these issues are emotional.

The Commissioners thanked the Chief for all of this information and update.

g. Informational: Personal Video System Program

Chief Mello gave a brief demonstration of a Personal Video System being tested by some of our Officers. Basically, it is a camera and recording device worn by the Officer, either on glasses, on the collar or on a headpiece. We have bought 10 of these video recorders. The information on the cameras is then downloaded to "Cloud Storage".

The cameras will aid in assisting with false complaints against Officers which is sometimes a matter of perception. It will also help us with misconduct issues, training issues, internal affairs and evidence for court. This is a pilot program.

Commissioner Smith asked how the Officers like the cameras. Chief Mello said that some are uncomfortable with them. They tend to like the camera on the glasses more. Sometimes it is a benefit in knowing that you are being watched. The primary reason for the cameras would be to protect officers from false complaints and to view their behavior to see how they can conduct themselves in a different manner at times.

h. Hearing: Suspension of Anthony's High Tech Motors and DJ's Service Center from Rotational Tow List.

Chief Mello indicated that he was contacted by the lawyers representing Anthony's and that they requested that this issue be tabled to our next meeting. Motion was made by Commissioner Faruolo to table this item. 2nd by Commissioner Bergami. Motion passed.

i. Radio Project Update

Commissioner Faruolo made a motion to add this item to the agenda. 2nd by Commissioner Bergami. Motion carried unanimously.

Chief Mello began by indicating that our Radio Upgrade Project began almost 5 years ago and originally was just to replace our infrastructure. It evolved into a project in which both Fire and Police Dispatch will all be in one combined 911 Center. We are very close to implementing the Police Department part of the project and we expect that by May, the 911 aspect will be completed.

Chief Mello thanked Deputy Chief Butler who is the Project Manager, Sgt. Todd Richards, Jean Lazcak from MIS, Mayor Richetelli who was Mayor when the project started, Mayor Blake, for his current assistance and Chief Robert Healy for his cooperation in this project.

The Commissioners, along Chief Mello, D/Chief Mooney, D/Chief Butler went into the Communications Center for a tour of the newly renovated 911 Dispatch Center. D/Chief Butler showed the Commissioners the new layout, furniture, monitors and all of the new state of the art equipment. He indicated that the coverage tests that are being done indicate better coverage and clearer reception than before. The cameras in the room cover various locations in the City. We have 2 generators and a UPS system in case of power failure. Also, we have the Command Van for a portable dispatch center if we need it.

Chief Mello discussed the fact that our savings from having Sungard for both fire and police are tremendous. We will all be on the same system. The map in the room will show locations of both fire and police.
