District Description

The original layout of Milford, accomplished during the spring and summer of 1640, located the house lots of the original settlers along both banks of the Wepawaug River and of West End Brook. It was here that the settlers built their first homes and barns and made their first plantings. At the same time, a common was laid out between the present North and South Broad Streets, an east-west corridor connecting these two sets of dwellings.

The Green was mainly used as pasture during the Colonial period and the area has remained largely intact. It evolved into its present appearance and function during the 19th century.

The area to the south of the Green, the subject of this study, is therefore made up of town dwellings generally younger than some of those in the older areas mentioned above, part of which is Milford's existing Historic District. The south-of-the-Green area has several houses, some with barns or carriage houses, dating from the 18th century but more from the 19th, as well as some newer buildings scattered among them. The proposed district does include, however, Milford's oldest house not substantially rebuilt or altered since its original construction, the Eells-Stow House, c. 1700.

The Eells-Stow House, in 1930, was being offered for sale and thus became threatened with destruction. The Freelove Baldwin Stow Chapter of the D.A.R. therefore rallied to save it. The Chapter had been named for the wife of Capt. Stephen Stow, Milford's "martyr" of the Revolutionary War, and who had lived in the house. The D.A.R. spurred the townspeople to purchase the house, raising enough money in spite of the Great Depression. They then organized the Milford Historical Society to own and maintain the house as its museum. The Society is there to this day, and has moved the Bryan-Downs House and the Clark-Stockade House to the property, significantly adding to its museum space.

Milford's older commercial area was located along North Street, with shops clustered about the mill dams. During the 19th century the commercial center of Milford shifted to the area of the Green and thus the nearby residential areas became more desirable. But the part of High Street which is in the proposed historic district, formerly known as Wharf Lane, which leads to the Town Dock, was already then, as it is now, a key part of Milford's maritime history. The Eells-Stow House, for instance, was once the home of Capt. Stephen Stow (1726-1777) who had a thriving shipping business both coastwise and with the West Indies.

In addition to the three houses owned by the Milford Historical Society, the proposed district also includes the following historically significant houses:

This area is, therefore, historically significant as one of Milford's older residential areas. The mixture of 18th, 19th and early 20th century dwellings seem to have an architectural integrity, charm and beauty that we feel should be preserved.

The Historic District Study Committee of the City of Milford, County of New Haven and State of Connecticut, therefore proposes that the following parcels be designated as an Historic District, pursuant to Connecticut General Statutes, (CHAPTER 97a SEC.7-147 HISTORIC DISTRICTS AND HISTORIC PROPERTIES) and CITY OF MILFORD HISTORIC DISTRICT ORDINANCE (ARTICLE XI HISTORICAL DISTRICT): Map 44, Block 402, Parcels 1B, 27-30; Block 403, Parcels 15-18; Block 404, Parcels 1, 3-12, 14-18, 18A; Block 405, Parcels 1-12, 22-25; Block 406, Parcels 1-20; Block 407, Parcels 1-11, 11A, 12, 13; Block 408, Parcels 1-10, 10A, 10B, 11, 12; Block 410, Parcels 1-6, 6A, 7-12, 13A, 14-21, 21A, 22, 23; Block 412, Parcels 14-23; and Map 54, Block 402, Parcels 24-26; Block 403, Parcels 1-5, 5A, 6, 7, 7A, 12, 13.

Section 18a-152 Same-Application; hearing; approval

a) The Commission created by Section 18a-148 of this Article shall hold a public hearing upon each application for a certificate of appropriateness as to exterior architectural features or as to parking. Notice of time and place of such hearing shall be given by publication in the form of a legal advertisement appearing in a newspaper having a substantial circulation in the City at least seven (7) days before such hearing. Section 18a-153 Same-Considerations in determining appropriateness

If the Commission determines that the proposed erection, construction, restoration, alteration, razing or parking will be appropriate, it shall issue a certificate of appropriateness. In passing upon appropriateness as to exterior architectural features, the Commission shall consider, in addition to any other pertinent factors, the historical and architectural value and significance, architectural style and general design of the architectural features involved and the relationship thereof to the exterior architectural style and pertinent features of other structures in the immediate neighborhood. A certificate of appropriateness may be refused for any building or structure, the erection, reconstruction, restoration, alteration or razing of which, in the opinion of the Commission, would be detrimental to the interest of the Milford Historical District No. 2.

Section 18a-154 Same-Variations permissible, when

Where, by reason of topographical conditions, district borderline situations, immediately adjoining existing developments or because of other unusual circumstances, the strict application of any provisions of Sections 7-147a to 7-147k, inclusive, of the General Statutes of Connecticut as amended or of this Article would result in exceptional practical difficulty or undue hardship upon the owner of any specific property, the Commission created by Section 18a-148 of this Article, in passing upon applications for a certificate required by Section 18a-151, shall have power to vary or modify strict adherence to said sections or to interpret the meaning of said sections so as to relieve such difficulty or hardship; provided such variance, modification or interpretation shall remain in harmony with the general purpose and intent of said sections so that the general character of the district shall be conserved and substantial justice done. In granting variations, the Commission may impose such reasonable and additional stipulations and conditions as will in its judgment better fulfill the purpose of said Sections.

Regulations and orders of the Commission issued pursuant to such sections of the General Statutes of Connecticut, as amended, or of this Article, shall be enforced by the Building Inspector of the City, who is hereby authorized to inspect and examine any building, structure, place or premises and to require in writing the remedying of any condition found to exist therein or thereon in violation of any provision of the regulations or orders made under

Notice of such appeal shall be given by leaving a true and attested copy thereof in the hands of or at the usual place of abode of the Chairman or Clerk of the Commission within twelve (12) days before the return day to which such appeal has been taken. Procedure upon such appeal shall be the same as that defined in Section 8-8 of the General Statutes of Connecticut as amended from time to time.

Section 18a-157 Exempted acts

Nothing in this Article shall be construed to prevent the ordinary maintenance or repair of any exterior feature in the Milford Historic District No. 2 which does not involve a change of design thereof; nor to prevent the construction, reconstruction, alteration or demolition of any such feature which the Building Inspector certifies is required by the public safety because of an unsafe or dangerous condition; nor to prevent the construction, reconstruction, alteration or demolition of any such feature under a permit issued by the Building Inspector prior to the effective date of establishment of the District.

Wharf Lane Complex – 34 High Street – Parcel No. 44-404-4

Bryan/Downs House, c. 1785

This house was originally located on Cherry Street, next to the present-day Kings Highway Cemetery. It was built by Capt. Jehiel Bryan and Jehiel Bryan, Jr. as a six-room saltbox. A descendant, May Esther Bryan married Ebenezer Downs. Their son, Ebenezer Downs, Jr., extensively enlarged and remodeled the house in 1837. In the early 1980's the Milford Cemetery Association, needing more space, donated the house to the Milford Historical Society. It was dismantled and rebuilt on the Historical Society's property. In the rebuilding, the Society endeavored to keep all the rooms in their original positions around the central chimney as before the 1837 remodeling.

These three historic houses all belonging to the Milford Historical Society and used as their museums. This property is called the Wharf Lane Complex, after the old name of this section of High Street.

Eells-Stow House, c. 1700

This is the original house on the site, built c.1700 by Maj. Samuel Eells who was a lawyer and a weaver. Later in the 18th century the house was sold to Stephen Stow, the brother of the deceased wife of Nathaniel Eells. Stow was the captain of a coastal schooner and carried on a trading business up and down Long Island Sound. In December 1776 a British ship put ashore 200 smallpox stricken prisoners near Milford Harbor. Stow made out a will and volunteered to care for them. Within a month, 46 of the prisoners and Captain Stow were dead from the disease.

The house is listed on the National Register. It is of post and beam construction and has had many additions over the years. Its most interesting feature is a double dogleg stairway. In 1930 the house was in danger of being torn down. The Freelove Baldwin Stow Chapter of the DAR (named for the wife of Capt. Stephen Stow) bought the building and sold it to the newly-formed Milford Historical Society.

During 1981-82 the house underwent extensive reconstruction. All clapboards, sheathing, window frames and sashes were removed revealing the basic structure of the framing. The oldest part of the house has been restored, including returning the windows to their original leaded glass casement style.

Nathan Clark/Stockade House, 1780

This house was originally located on present-day Bridgeport Avenue, next to the Milford Hospital. The original "Stockade House" was built c.1659 by Deacon George Clark, the first house built outside the stockade which surrounded the town as protection from the Indians and the Dutch. A descendant, Nathan Clark, had the house dismantled and rebuilt in the saltbox style, using many salvaged building materials from the original house. A prominent 19th century resident was Nathan G. Pond who urged, for Milford's 250th Anniversary in 1889, the construction of the Memorial Bridge.

In the 20th century, the house served as Milford's first public hospital. In 1924, when the nucleus of the present Milford Hospital was built, it became the Nurses' Home. Still later it was used as a tea room and an apartment house. In 1973 the Milford Hospital, needing the space for added parking, sold the house to the Milford Historical Society for $1 and allowed the Society to dismantle and remove the house to its own property. The house had been added to many times over the years but the Historical Society restored it as closely as possible to its 1780 saltbox style.
