The Friends Holiday Book Sale brought many visitors to the library in December. There were at least a dozen people waiting outside to get in when the doors opened at 10am. Despite the less than stellar weather that day, there was a steady stream of parents, children, grandparents, teachers, and book lovers raving about the quality of what was available for sale. Many books were sold to happy customers looking to stock their shelves or find gifts for the holidays while supporting a good cause.

A special thanks to the library staff for their support with a big sign at the circulation desk and volunteers from the library's Teen Activity Group that helped move boxes of books onto the tables. Also many thanks to the Friends volunteers who unpacked books on all of the tables during setup and the fabulous volunteers who worked all day during the sale. And finally thanks to the end-of-sale teen volunteers who packed leftover books along with Friends volunteers and moved all of the book boxes back. It really was a team effort! Thank you to everyone who pitched in to make the sale an epic success!
Great news! Each month, the Stop & Shop Community Bag Program gives back to our communities by selecting a nonprofit local to each store to benefit from the purchase of every Community Bag. Starting March 1st, 2023 and for the entire month of March, when you purchase a $2.50 reusable Community Bag at the Stop & Shop located at 855 Bridgeport Avenue in Milford, $1 is donated to the Friends of the Milford Library.

HELP TO ADVOCATE FOR THE LIBRARY!
The City of Milford Budget process for 2023-2024 has begun and the publication of the Mayor’s Proposed Budget is a starting point for the next steps. The Board of Finance will make recommendations and the Board of Alderman ultimately approves the city budget.

Please let our city leaders know what the library means to you and that you support the current proposed library budget without any cuts.

Please contact your alderman via email, phone, or letter. Just a few words about what the library means to you personally and that you support the library budget will help and would be greatly appreciated. Personal stories also make an impact, such as a parent sharing the joy their child experienced at story time or the friendships they formed, using library computers for job searching, saving dollars as a new retiree by checking out books, how you use the e-content (e-books, audio books, etc.), learning something new at a program, how the library staff helped you, etc.

Find your alderperson at the link below. Click on their name for contact information:

Public comments are welcome at the upcoming Board of Aldermen Public Meeting, typically held in April. Additional information will be sent to members when the schedule is available. Thank you in advance for stepping up and using your voice to advocate for the Milford Public Library!
The Milford Public Library has named Suzanne Harrison-Thomas as its new assistant director. There is no doubt that Suzanne has been well-groomed for the job. During the past 24 years, she has been a fixture at the library. “I started working here as a page while I was an undergraduate,” she says, smiling. “I later worked in reference and then, after I got my master’s, I applied for the position of children’s librarian. I held that title for about 21 years.”

When Nancy Abby retired as assistant director last year, Suzanne recognized the opportunity and threw her hat in the ring. “I knew I had the training and the skills to take on a new career challenge,” she says. “As assistant director, I am able to broaden my focus and still provide a community-oriented service.”

Suzanne will impact library services and programs and oversee the ordering of adult nonfiction publications. “I always appreciate patrons reaching out to me with suggestions and feedback,” she says. At present, she is looking into providing arts and entertainment programs that include musical performances, storytelling and author talks.

Although the new role has new responsibilities, Suzanne will continue to relish in the tasks that make her an endeared employee. “I love working at the library because it is a people job and I get to interact with a wide range of patrons – from children to families to individual adults,” she says. “In the new position, I will get to work with a new age group and investigate new genres while expanding my skill set.

“Working at the library is a nice balance for me,” she continues. “It’s literacy, culture, community involvement and public service… this encompasses everything I really love.”

Suzanne, who was raised in Milford, is a longtime fan of the Milford Library. “I’ve always been a reader,” she says. “I’ve been coming here since I was a child as well as my three kids. Now, two of my children are in college and one is in high school.” Library Director Christine Angeli says she is “thrilled” to have Suzanne take the assistant director job.

“She has led our Children’s Department for the last 20 years, and, under her leadership, the Children’s Department has undergone a major renovation, increased the number and breadth of programs offered, and built strong partnerships with our schools and local child care agencies,” Christine says.

She adds that Suzanne has been a constant presence in the lives of generations of Milford families, nurturing a love of reading, learning and community service in countless children. “We look forward to having her in her new role as she helps plan and develop new library services for all residents,” Christine said.

In turn, Suzanne is very much looking forward to working side-by-side with Christine. “Chris has wonderful ideas and is working towards providing even greater services to our members,” says Suzanne. “We are collaborating on a very actionable strategic plan to provide our community with a library that meets their needs.”

In February, changes were made to the program listings on the library website. The library has started a subscription to an online program registration software, LibCal. There will no longer be a list of each program on the website, but instead it has a link to an online program listing and calendar. The Young Adult and Children’s Department have been trialing it and adult programs have recently been added. Paper calendars can still be printed, and are available at all library service desks.

Use the filters to select the calendar you are interested in: Adult Calendar, Children’s Calendar, Young Adult Calendar or All Calendars. Filter events by Online or In-Person.

Find information on programs, book clubs, story times, genealogy and more! Try it out here, Library Online Calendar link: https://milford-pl.libcal.com/calendar or scan the QR code.

February Event Highlights:
Thursday, February 16th at 1:00 PM: Online Author Talk with Grace M. Cho
Tuesday, February 21 at 2:00pm: Movie Matinee "The Woman King"
And so many more! Scan the QR code to see all of the FUN events at the library this month!

FRIENDS OF THE MILFORD LIBRARY NEWSLETTER
Winter 2023
During the Friends of the Milford Library’s annual meeting in March, guest speaker Dr. Diana, a Milford-based STEAM educator, consultant, and author, shared her latest book, The STEAM TEAM and the Incredible Dream: The Atmosphere Adventure.

“STEAM education stands for Science, Technology, Engineering, Art, and Math. Milford elementary schools hired STEAM teachers in their buildings two years ago,” Dr. Diana explained. “This type of education encourages hands-on learning, collaboration, and teaching kids the importance of trial-and-error. Many schools are starting STEAM and STEM programs," she shared.

Dr. Diana writes science and STEAM Curriculum for Discover Education, Houghton Mifflin Harcourt and helped FIRST Robotics with their #morethan campaign to encourage females and students of color to participate in robotics.

The Friends of the Library learned more about STEAM education and the importance of encouraging kids to have the right mindset. Specifically, a STEAM Mindset, which Dr. Diana explained is about being curious, asking questions, experimenting and failing forward.

"I learned so much about STEAM and read Dr. Diana’s books with my grandchildren who are big fans of her! We are so lucky to have her as part of our Milford community!" shared Nadine Civitella, FOML Member and Co-VP of Public Relations.
